Change E-mail Address

This form is used to change your registered e-mail addresses. Your registered e-mails are used by TWiki for sending you e-mails, including notifications of password changes. The addresses you register via this form are kept secret and will not be published anywhere on this site.

 Security Note: You really ought to register a valid e-mail address. If TWiki can't find a registered e-mail for you in the secret database, it will look in your user topic for a line like this:

* Set Email = user@example.com

If your user topic is not protected from changes by other people, and you don't register an e-mail address using this form, then your user account could be hijacked by someone else.

If your old e-mail addresses are all invalid (you can't receive mail there any more) and you have forgotten your password, please contact grid-operations@lists.cnaf.infn.it for help.

After submitting this form your e-mail will be changed, and you will be returned to this form.
